About Mhlaba Industrial Solution Services

Our General Manager, James Banda overseeing the technical department and general operations, believes in leading from the front. He takes pride in hands-on approach and direct involvement in operations.

Mhlaba Industrial Solution Services is versatile and flexible enough as a family-run enterprise to allow woman director to spend most of time in the field, dealing directly with clients and the technical aspects of the business. At MISS we have a policy of treating our customers as partners, ultimately building long-term relationships with them.

Your One Stop for all Industrial Solutions

Our business is about helping our clients maintain their equipment and minimize down time. In this way we assist utilities carry out their function and supply much needed critical spares to their departments.

We offer a one-stop industrial supply service, concentrated mainly in Gauteng Northwest and Mpumalanga, with offices in Johannesburg. We also have a network of representatives and Partnerships to meet the needs of customers in other industrial centres and provinces.

Management System

A management quality manual will be planned, developed and documented. Personnel will have access to magazines, technical reports and other publications that may provide ideas and information on how to improve quality and productivity in Mhlaba Industrial Solution Services. Selected personnel will also be given the opportunity to attend exhibitions, conferences and other events where improvement information may be gathered.

Configuration management principles will be applied to ensure that documents faithfully reflect the actual actions and operations performed to achieve the quality policies and objectives...

Joint Ventures Philosophy

Mhlaba Industrial Solutions services attest to the old adage - "Working Together Is Success." - and "Alone we can do so little; together we can do so much." – Hellen Keller.

Time and time again, Mhlaba Industrial Solution Services enter into Joint Ventures with other engineering companies to maximize technical skills for the benefit of clients. We have seen through the year we have grown from strength to strength through the various projects that such joint ventures have successfully completed.

Policies and Objectives

The ultimate responsibility for quality at Mhlaba Industrial Solutions rests with the Managing Director and our General Manger. In this regard Neliswa Banda hereby confirms their commitment to the achievement and maintenance of quality, together with the effective operation of the quality management system.

Organization and Accountability

Mhlaba Industrial Solution Services headed by Neliswa Banda and Lerato Banda. Lerato is very much an 'Engineering, innovative woman'. She leads from the front and brings to the company in-depth business management and technical skills.
